Single Component Availability – SCA

Component loan, exchange and sale

SCA – Single Component Availability

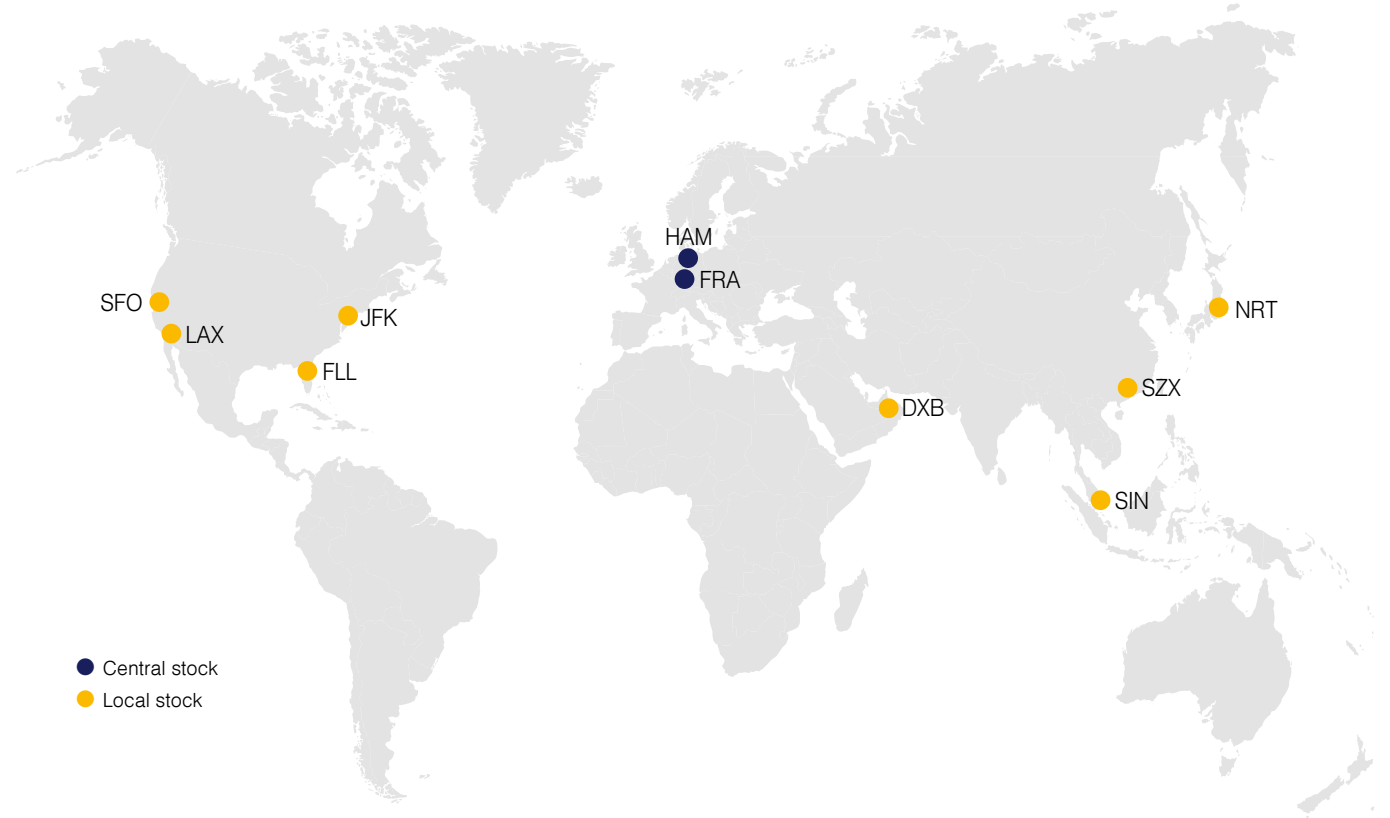

Single Component Availability (SCA) is Lufthansa Technik's fast and flexible service for aircraft components. Based on the high quality and reliability the MRO provider is known for, SCA components are offered with a six months or 1,000 flight hours warranty. SCA grants access to one of the biggest component pools in the world worth more than one billion euros.

Loan, Exchange, Sale

This inventory enables Lufthansa Technik to provide customers rapidly with aircraft components worldwide – irrespective of whether they already have a contract with the MRO provider. SCA offers tailored component availability services on a case-by-case basis.

How SCA works

- Contact us 24/7 with your request
- Fast availability check and reply
- Your choice of loan, exchange or sale
- Logistics options for your destination
- Coordination until task complete

Local stocks worldwide

Whatever component challenges you are facing, it is our job to keep you flying. A phone call is all it takes to get answers on any aspect of material management. Guaranteed.
